Michael Hutchinson, Owner
Michael J. Hutchinson
Building and Design Company

Tucked away in historic Newtown, Michael Hutchinson quietly runs one of the most respected restoration construction companies in Eastern Pennsylvania.

His ties to this quaint Bucks County birthplace, coupled with several generations in historic construction and a passion for history, have equipped Michael with the unique skill of meticulously refitting older homes.

"It's like being a detective. I know how to search for clues and unravel the mystery of the house's original design," says Mike proudly as he points to the custom molding around a beautifully restored fireplace in the dining room of his 175-year old home.

The line of Hutchinson builders dates back to the 1920s when Michael's grandfather established the family name as synonymous with superior construction. This father-son apprenticeship tradition has been carried down through the generations; Michael continually perfects his work by constantly refining his carpentry and building design skills, while acting as mentor to his son.

Hutchcraft Designs, the fourth generation of Hutchinson builders, is no exception. Headed by Michael, Jr., this specialty custom cabinetry and woodwork division is an integral part of the successful Michael J. Hutchinson Building and Design Company. Complementing almost every project his dad directs, Michael, Jr. consistently demonstrates his outstanding abilities and fine workmanship.

Don't be alarmed by Michael's serious work ethic. His easygoing personality and refreshing sense of humor are responsible for long-term customer relations.

The pride and fine craftsmanship of Michael Hutchinson's work has contributed to the classic face of historical Newtown. Closely affiliated with the local business community, some of Michael Hutchinson's work is regularly showcased in the Newtown Historic Association's annual Christmas Open House Tour, an exciting event where the public is invited to examine the finest construction projects on pre-existing historical properties.
